Attractions Announce Closures

Joint Decision Made Among Fifteen Tulsa-Area Attractions

TULSA, Okla. – On Monday, March 16, the Executive Leadership of over fifteen Tulsa- area attractions have unanimously announced the temporary closure of their facilities. The decision was made in the best interest of public health and in alignment with the most recent recommendations from the CDC and The City of Tulsa.

These Tulsa-area attractions have been in ongoing discussions since the pandemic announcement and have been collectively communicating and evaluating best practices for the safety of the Tulsa community. Today’s closure is a strong statement of unity, signifying an unanimous commitment to public health. Tulsa-area attractions will continue to evaluate the situation on a weekly basis as information is provided from the CDC and The City of Tulsa.

Gathering Place and River Parks Authority will keep outdoor trails and pathways open during regular operational hours where guests will continue to exercise social distancing.

Tulsa area-attractions include: AHHA, Woody Guthrie Center, Tulsa Historical Society and Museum, Philbrook, Discovery Lab, Tulsa Botanic Garden, Gilcrease, Duet, Guthrie Green, Tulsa Zoo, Oklahoma Aquarium, Tulsa Foundation for Architecture, Tulsa Garden Center, River Parks Authority and Gathering Place.
